Calculation Of Balance Subject To Interest Rate.
Daily Interest Rates and Annual Percentage Rates may be found on the Rates and Fees Table. Periodic Interest Charge Calculation - Daily balance method (Including new transactions). We calculate a daily balance for each type of transaction and use the daily balance's for determine your interest charges. We figure the "daily balances" for each transaction type as follows:

- We take the beginning balance for each day and add any interest charge from the prior day findown as compounding of interest] and any new transactions or other debits (including Annual Membership Fees, transaction fees, Penalty Fees, any other fees and unpaid interest charges).
 We subtract payments or credits and treat any net credit balance as a zero balance.

The result is the daily balance for each type of transaction. We figure the interest charges on your account as follows:

- To get the daily interest rate for each type of transaction we divide the APR by 365. We may combine different transaction types that have the same daily interest rates as the man and the same daily interest rates. We multiply the daily interest rates by the daily balance for each transaction type for each day in the billing cycle. We add together the interest changes for each day in the billing cycle. If any interest changes for each day in the billing cycle and the man and the same day in the billing cycle. If any interest change is due, we will change you at least the minimum interest change shown on the Rates and Fees Table. We add transactions and fees to your daily balance no earlier than:

 For new purchases including Chase Pay Over Time plans created at checkout with select merchants), balance transfers, cash advances, or My Chase Leans the date of the transaction.

 For new cash advance checks or balance transfer checks the date the payed exposite the check.

 Fees either on the date of a related transaction, the date they are possed to your account, or the last day of the billing cycle.

 The Balances Subject to Interest Rate for each type of transaction shown.

The Balances Subject to Interest Rate for each type of transaction shown on your billing statement is the sum of the daily balances for that type of transaction divided by the number of days in the baling cycle, We may use mathematical formulas that produce equivalent results to calculate the Balance Subject to Interest Rate, interest charges and related amounts.
